MURDER AT RANDBURG.

Saloon-keeper, Richards, Killed by Miner L. A. Scott.

MOJAVE, Sept. 8.—Charles Richards, a saloon-keeper of Randburg mining camp, forty-five miles north of this place, was shot through the heart this evening by L. A. Scott, a miner.

The trouble arose over the payment of money due to Richards, and it led to a bitter quarrel. Richards made a pass for his pistol, and Scott, who is a powerful man, standing over six feet, disarmed his opponent and fired. Richards was about 35 years of age, a native of Sioux City, Iowa, and was married to a lady in Los Angeles.

Richards has a host of friends here, and so high did the lynching fever run that a band of men started out to meet the prisoner and kill him. Reports that a lynching party had started from here were followed by a wagon-load of men to protect the prisoner, and trouble between the two parties was averted.

The remains of Richards have been ordered taken to Los Angeles for interment. A preliminary examination will be held in the morning.

Owners are Confirmed in Their Rights.

(BY ASSOCIATED PRESS WIRE.)

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 8.—Judge Sanderson rendered his decision this morning in the famous Noe case, ordering judgment for the defendants, who are the present owners of the San Miguel rancho, which consists of 400 acres of land in the Mission and southwestern portion of this city, and the property in controversy. The plaintiffs, Miguel, Vicente and Catalina Noe, and Guadalupe Gardena Noe, wife of Jose de Jesus Noe, claimed title to one-half of the property, and brought suit to set aside the sale of the same to over one thousand persons, among whom it had been distributed.

The property originally came into the possession of Jose Noe, the head of the family, in 1846, under a grant from Pio Pico, the last Mexican Governor of California, but was subsequently passed by Noe by private sale, and passed from purchaser to purchaser until it

FOUND IN DEADMAN'S LAKE.

A Collector of Curios Murdered.

James Hartley's Body Discovered Tied Hand and Foot.

A Stake Had Been Driven Through the Victim's Breast.

He Had Been Robbing Indian Graves for Years Past-Shot at and Nearly Captured at Aisen River on One of His Forays.

(BY THE TIMES SPECIAL WIRE.)

PORTLAND (Or.) Sept. 8.—(Special Dispatch.) The body of James Hartley, collector of Indian relics and curios, was found last Thursday by Henry Peterson, a timber "cruiser," on a small island in Deadman's Lake, in the dense forest which stretches from St. Helens to the Columbia River. The condition of the body, which was found in an old canoe, the hands and feet bound by withes of hazel and fastened to the stem and stern of the canoe, with a stake of hazel driven through it, showed that Hartley had been put to death with cruel tortures, such as were inflicted upon white men taken prisoners by the Indians in the early history of this country.

Hartley had been missing for over a year, but the body was in a comparatively good state of preservation and was readily recognized by the clothes, of a peculiar greenish-ocher color, which he invariably wore, and letters and papers found in his pockets. Some such dreadful ending had often been predicted for him, as he had been for years engaged in collecting Indian relics and curios, and has probably robbed more Indian graves and scattered broadcast the remains of more Indians than any other one man. There is scarcely an Indian burying-ground on the Columbia River, or the islands therein, or along the coast of Oregon, where such places are numerous, which Hartley had not ransacked in search of stone knives and hammers, beads, flint arrowheads and other articles which Indians used to bury with their dead.

Two years since, while operating in the extensive Indian burying-ground in the Arctio valley, near Astoria, he was shot at and narrowly escaped being captured by guards sent down from Siletz Reservation to keep watch for him. The Indians learned that he was on his way to that place. Owing to the fact that he had been so long a time kept his movements as secret as possible, and so his disappearance attracted no attention till six months ago, when his brother came out from the East to inquire about him.

BATTLE WITH DESERTERS.

SAILORS FROM THE ARCTIC WHALING FLEET CAUSE TROUBLE.

Thrilling Experiences During Last Winter and Spring-Fugitives from the Vessels Rob the Indian Camps and are Pursued.

(BY THE TIMES SPECIAL WIRE.)

NEW BEDFORD (Mass.) Sept. 8.—(Special Dispatch.) Letters received from the Arctic whaling fleet, in winter quarters at Herschel Island, report an unusually thrilling experience in the winter and spring. There were thirteen ships there, with a total complement of about five hundred souls. Early in the fall, reports of rich whaling grounds in the Arctic were received, and the crews, and desertions followed as early as November.

In the first attempt, two Germans ran away, but came back five days after the start. In January seven more deserted, but the deserters, and over a hundred were brought back in iron, but three escaped in a pitched battle with rifles.

About the middle of March twelve more deserted. The deserters pillaged the native settlements and terrorized the Indians. In June, the deserters, on March 17, and a battle ensued, in which forty or fifty ships were exchanged. Soon after the deserters devastated Hoffman's trading camp. Hoffman pursued with ten Indians, overtook the robbers and a battle followed. One of the deserters, and named Kennedy, was killed and one was fatally wounded. The rest of the party surrendered.

THE LEGISLATIVE CAMPAIGN.

At every election in California a job lot of legislative material is thrown upon the political market from the ranks of both parties. It is generally as varied in degree as it is plebeian in color and indifferent in quality. The tendency, unfortunately, is toward mediocrity in the Legislature, and too often toward corruption in the personnel of the membership. In a large, enlightened, populous and wealthy county like Los Angeles, embracing great industries and important interests, the legislative representation ought to be first-class, in order that our affairs may be intelligently and honestly safeguarded in the General Assembly. It has not always been so; more than once incompetency and rascality have cropped out in the local delegation. There must be a reform in this regard, and the people are able to secure that reform if they but resort to energetic and determined measures in the nominations and elections.

In the pending campaign there are doubtful aspirants who are attempting to put their heads above the plane of obscurity where they belong. In the Seventy-fourth district, for instance, there is "Corny" Pendleton and "Johnny" Morton, both of whom may safely be passed by on the other side by the nominating convention; and in the Pasadena district there is H. H. Rose—"the judge"—a fellow of low degree, who can be left at home with entire safety to the State. If nominated he would hardly be elected; and if elected, he would not be a fit representative of the virtuous and intelligent city of Pasadena and the Assembly district of which it forms an important part.

And there are others. Let the honest delegates in each Assembly and Senatorial district see to it that the people whom they are sent to represent are not tricked out of their rights by the chicanery and gophering tactics of the "push."

ON THE RUN.

Each succeeding day gives further evidence that the free-silver craze is dying out. Nor is this evident in merely isolated sections. It is becoming evident all over the country, except in a few mountain States in which silver mining continues to be the chief industry.

The Boston Herald is one among many other newspapers that have noted this as a fact. In a late issue it says: "The campaign in its recent developments has turned against the silverites, and so long as the honest-money men continue their organized efforts with the vigor which they have recently exhibited, there will be no eddy in the tide which is now sweeping the Bryan canvass to shipwreck. The Popocrats are on the run, and no chance to rally must be given them."

There has been a fall of 23 1/2 inches of rain in Ireland this year, up to date, which is nearly three inches above the average. It is fondly to be hoped the potato crop will be so bountiful, in consequence thereof, that there will be no immediate accessions to the ranks of Tammany.

WHEN IT IS "NOMINATED IN THE BOND."

Recent interviews with prominent business and professional men in this city, as published on the "Business" page of The Times last Sunday, seem to indicate some difference of opinion and uncertainty with regard to the attitude of the United States Supreme Court as to contracts specifically payable in gold.

For the information of all, we now state that the United States Supreme Court definitely decided in February, 1895, that contracts made payable in either gold or silver coin must be discharged specifically in gold or silver coin, according to the contract. The case in which this was decided is Bronson vs. Rhodes, and will be found fully reported in Seventh Wallace, United States Reports, page 229. The doctrine of this case was followed in other cases, to wit: Butler vs. Horwitz, 7 Wallace, p. 258; Bronson vs. Kimpson, 8 Wallace, p. 444; Trebilcock vs. Wilson, 12 Wallace, p. 687. These decisions of the United States Supreme Court have never been reversed, and they remain today the law of the land. It is not probable that a single member of the present Supreme Court would consent to reverse them.

When it is remembered that ninety-nine one-hundredths of the bonded, note and mortgage indebtedness of the people of California is specially "payable in United States gold coin," would not the voters of the Golden State be guilty of unutterable folly in consenting to the free coinage of depreciated silver, thereby banishing gold from our currency and sending it up to a premium of 200?

Contracts between man and man, made specifically payable in gold coin, are so payable, and payment as provided cannot be evaded. The right of private contract is a sacred and fundamental right. A man may do what he will with his own. He may keep it or he may sell it, give it away, or barter it to whomsoever he desires. He may sell it on such terms as he sees fit, provided the other party to the contract agrees to the terms thereof. Both parties to an agreement have an inherent right to make such terms of payment as they can amicably agree upon, and neither courts, legislatures nor individuals have any right to interfere with the fulfillment of terms so agreed upon.

These truths are so simple, so obvious, so fundamental, that it would seem almost an impertinence to repeat them, were it not that the Democratic party has presumed to advocate, in its platform, the enactment by Congress of a law to prohibit the making of any contracts payable in gold coin. Such a proposition, emanating from such a monarch in the middle ages, would not have been thought strange, though it could not have been enforced even in the middle ages. But for a scheme so absurd to be seriously broached in the late evening of the nineteenth century, in a land which lays claim not only to civilization, but to enlightenment, is indeed a surprise.

Such a law, if passed by Congress, would, as already intimated, without doubt be declared unconstitutional by the Supreme Court as that body is at present constituted. But the same political party which proposes this radical innovation covertly suggests, also, the reorganization of the Supreme Court in such manner as to make it the creature of the party which happens to be in power. If all this could be brought about as proposed, the desired legislation might be enacted and sustained by the court of last resort. But suppose such a law were enacted, could it be enforced? Contracts entered into prior to the passage of such a law would be valid. The law might be made retroactive, but such a scheme of wholesale spoliation could not be sustained by the courts, unless all sense of honor were blunted and constitutional guarantees were wantonly violated. Contracts made after the passage of such a law would be so safeguarded as to defeat the dishonest intent of the law. Those who had anything of value to sell would either demand immediate payment in an equivalent value, or would advance the price, on deferred payments, to a figure high enough to cover all contingent losses by reason of currency fluctuations. Many would refuse to enter into any contracts involving future payments. Or payments might be stipulated in a specified weight of gold bullion (not coin). The methods by which the law could be evaded would be numerous and easily employed. It would be a dead-letter, even though it were sustained by all the courts in Christendom, because it would work monstrous injustice, and would interfere unwarrantably with the inalienable rights of individuals.

BRYAN ON TIN PLATE.

Talk of William J. Bryan as a friend of the American workman! There was never a statement more preposterous. Bryan is one of those who want everything cheap, no matter who suffers thereby. When the question of reducing the tariff on tin plate was under debate in the House of Representatives, Mr. Raines was the foremost advocate of a high duty thereon, in order to protect an infant industry in America by excluding English tin plate as far as was practicable. That gentleman pointed out the fact that American canneries had been obliged to purchase English plate exclusively and that over thirty millions of money left the country annually for the purchase of that article, whereas, if made at home, it would give employment to at least 100,000 of our American workmen. Mr. Raines's remarks were greeted with shouts of derision from the Democratic side of the house, chief among whom was Congressman Bryan.

The candidate of the Populists, said the Massachusetts Senator, "talks to us about patriotism—to us of the Republican party. We have made our mistakes, we have had our shortcomings, but the party of Grant and Lincoln is not to be taught patriotism by the party of Tillman and Altgeld."

THE DAY WE CELEBRATE.

"Glorious and brave to the men of old, Their sons shall study their virtues bold." Forty-six years ago today a new sister was born into the great family that we call our Union, with the dew of the Sierra on her golden hair and the blue of the vast Pacific in her eyes. That she was correctly typified by the figure of Minerva on the State seal has never once been called in question. She was under military government for a few months after the treaty by which she was ceded to the United States, but she was never under territorial government an hour of her existence.

The little Spartan band that met at Monterey on that eventful day in California's history have nearly all passed away, but the debt of gratitude which the State owes their memory can never be canceled. We refer more especially to Capt. John C. Fremont and David C. Broderick, both of whom subsequently represented the State in the United States Senate. The former distinguished himself by his able advocacy of the rights of placer miners to the fruits of their discoveries while the latter's arraignment of President Buchanan for his participation in the Leconte infamy will never be forgotten by any man who heard it.

These two men, more than any ten others, are we indebted for the fact that California entered the Union a free State. But without pausing to particularize upon the merits of individuals, the personnel of the Monterey convention was simply magnificent. They were men gathered together for a great work, and nobly did they perform their allotted task. Bright was the sun and favoring the breezes that marked the natal day of the State for whose baptism they stood sponsors at the font of Freedom as her brow was sprinkled in Liberty's name. Grand old fathers, nearly all passed away now, your sons shall not prove recreant to the trust you handed down to them that fair September day, as you stood there and saw the star-wrought mantle of Fort McHenry dip its fringes in the sparkling western sea.

THE MISSING B.

Some of our exchanges are in the habit of referring to Mr. Bryan's premeditated silence upon the tariff and his unparalleled loquacity upon finance, but there have been times when he was even silent upon that point which is now the great absorbing point of all his oratorical efforts. By referring to the Congressional Record for the second session of the Fifty-third Congress, we find that for ten days during December, 1893, the debates upon the currency raged with unabated virulence, the chief speakers being Messrs. Beltzover, Bland, Brosius, Bynum, Coombs, Cockran, Hall and Walker. Just think of that—four B's and no Bryan!

There is an old story about Louis Philippe, King of France, visiting a naval review at Spithead, accompanied by his four sons, all of whom were under age. The youngsters were amusing themselves about the decks of the flagship and their father paid little or no attention to them. The forward hatch of the ship was open, to ventilate her, and a mainmast was fastened over the top deck to keep the visitors from looking into the hold, where some of the royal tars were performing their ablutions. One of the young French princes ventured too near the open hatchway and fell down, but the canvass broke his fall and he received no material injury. But an old sailor who had witnessed the occurrence walked up to the officer of the day and touched his cap:

"Beg pardon, sir," he said, "but one of them 'ere kings has fell down the 'atchway'!"

There appears to have been a very exciting debate about that time, and, as Mr. Bryan was one of the B's that did not participate therein, the most natural conclusion is that he "fell down the 'atchway'" or that he "got lost in the shuffle."

PROTECTION IN THE SOUTH.

The seeds of protection to local industries sown by Samuel J. Randall in his southern tour of 1885, are not without their fruits, although the brave husbandman did not live to behold his ripened grain. The Times has all along contended that there was a strong protection element in the southern cities, especially in those that have good water-power, such as Huntsville and Atlanta. The following letter to the Georgetown, S. C., Times will be read with no small degree of interest:

"We have lived and prospered under the present sound-money system until it pained company with protection, and the party undertook to have a 'free breakfast table' by imposing a tariff to take the fancy of the masses. It was a tickle political cry, but what has resulted? Bond issues to meet what a tariff once met. In those days a scarcity of money never existed, because there was always a surplus and no one doubted the financial standing of our government. Unite sound money and protection in November, and prosperity will again bless our land; make more money by protection, without depreciating our money standard. For myself, I shall vote for Maj. McKinley, as he represents sound money and protection; we have lived under it, prospered under it, and know that it is no experiment."

The writer of the above letter is Hon. W. M. Hazard, one of the most prominent Democrats in the Palmetto State. He sees that the free-trade policy of the Democratic party means nothing but bankruptcy for the whole nation; and he is not alone in his convictions, which he has the courage to avow without dissimulation. The seeds sown by the greatest Democrat Pennsylvania ever produced, fell upon good soil and is already bearing a good return. The "solid South" will be broken in November, never to be reunited under the banner of free trade.

WELL-MERITED REBUKE.

Henry Cabot Lodge administered a few days ago, in a speech he made at Salem, a well-merited rebuke to Candidate Bryan.

The candidate of the Populists, said the Massachusetts Senator, "talks to us about patriotism—to us of the Republican party. We have made our mistakes, we have had our shortcomings, but the party of Grant and Lincoln is not to be taught patriotism by the party of Tillman and Altgeld."

Grand old fathers, nearly all passed away now, your sons shall not prove recreant to the trust you handed down to them that fair September day, as you stood there and saw the star-wrought mantle of Fort McHenry dip its fringes in the sparkling western sea.

Always true to her early history, California helped to defend the temple of Freedom without defiling the statue of Liberty. With less than a quarter-million of population, she sent forth nearly 3000 soldiers for the defense of the Union that had admitted her to sisterhood only eleven years before. Of these a little band of one hundred made a sea voyage of nearly six thousand miles to fight for the old flag and keep step to the music of the Union. And she poured out her gold like water for the preservation of our nationality. The sons of our noble pioneers are holding a celebration of this day at Stockton, and Los Angeles extends hands across the Tehachapi to greet them as they pay equal tribute to the honored dead and the little remnant of worthy old Argonauts who still survive. The men grow old and pass away, but the State lives on, nobler and grander than ever, fully realizing the lines of the inspired poet who wrote:

"By human children shall restore the grace
Gone with thy fallen plumes,
The wild, barbaric beauty of thy face
Shall round to classic lines.
"Till Hesper, as he trims his evening beam,
No prouder land shall see;
And Nature finds her old Arcadian dream
Restored again in thee."

THE ONLY TRUE COURSE.

The following is a sample of letters that are reaching The Times, some private, others for publication. It refers to the little pamphlet, "A Plain Statement of Bed-rock Facts and Unanswerable Reasons," etc., recently issued by this office:

"I have never read a better presentation of facts and figures, unanswerable, as found in your letter (printed) of August 5. Its spirit and justice carry conviction to all honest thinkers. Business men who have not the courage to stand up to that kind of doctrine are cowards. Six years ago I was a director and small owner in a wire factory in Illinois and also another barbing factory using the wires in Des Moines, Iowa. Large wages were paid and a large, profitable business was done. Because of the discharge of a drunken trouble-maker, an order from headquarters far away called the men out, and an extensive boycott was ordered, which covered every hardware house for hundreds of miles around, lasting several months, creating an immense loss to the company and a final removal of their works to Chicago, leaving the large factory building unoccupied to this day, and a large loss to all concerned. Your course is the only proper course to be adopted."

Mr. Arthur Sewall of Maine continues to announce that he is a candidate for the Vice-Presidency. Next Monday the State election of Maine will take place, and if the Republicans carry the State by 38,672 majority, as they did in 1894, Mr. Sewall may withdraw in favor of Mr. Tom Watson of Georgia, without any further ceremony. It will be like the riot case in Kentucky, as told by a witness: "The man on the claybank boss, he rode up and see he, 'Air this a free fight?' And Rowley see, 'It am.' Then the man on the claybank boss, he got down and see he, 'Air right, count me in.' Rowley gin him a clout under the ear an' knocked him down. Then the man got up on his claybank boss agin an' see he, 'Air this a free fight?' And Rowley see, 'It am.' And then the man on his claybank boss he see, 'Air right, count me out!' And that's about the way it will be with Sewall."

If any one were asked, Where is Baltimore? the answer would be: In Maryland. But there is another Baltimore today. It is situated way down east in Vermont, and although not so big as its Maryland namesake, it has covered itself with glory from center to circumference. The census of 1890 gave it a total population of eighty-three inhabitants, and in the Vermont State election last week every mother's son of them, without one single exception cast his vote for the Republican candidates. No need to ask how that Baltimore stands on the question of McKinley, protection and sound money.

W. T. Williams, sometimes irreverently dubbed "El Toro," (not "El Toro" of the Times), who is supposed to be an aspirant for judicial honors in the coming county campaign, and who has been after office "ever since Mount Lowe was a hole in the ground," has been making himself ridiculous by remarks in a twilight Popocratic organ to the effect that "the Republican party is getting away from the people," and that it "allying itself with the kid-gloved aristocracy," and all such airy persiflage. Before he had discovered that he had "said enough," Williams went on still further to say that "the people are no fools." Of course, they are not, and the best proof of that assertion lies in the fact that Mr. Williams is still an aspirant for the bench and wondering what was the name of the man who first said, "Don't you wish you may get it?"

The city of Paris has voted an expenditure of $10,000,000 (equal to about $2,000,000 of our money) for the purpose of establishing sanitariums in Algeria for the reception of victims of pulmonary diseases. This is a matter in which our government might well attempt rivalry. The climate of Arizona, being dry like that of Algeria, is singularly desirable by consumptives; and the erection, by the Federal government, of hospitals to be maintained by the State (after its admission, which is now a certainty), would be a great help to Arizona.

So far as production goes the parity between the two metals, gold and silver, seems to be satisfactorily maintained. Statistics show that the world's output of silver in 1873 was $3,000,000 ounces, and in 1895 174,000,000 ounces, being an increase of 176 per cent. The world's output of gold in 1873 was $96,000,000, and in 1895 it was $200,000,000, an increase of about 108 per cent. If money tinkers would leave the money question alone the two metals would continue to adjust themselves in direct proportion to the product of each.

It was Christ who said: "I am not come to bring the righteous, but sinners, to repentance." There is something of this spirit in the proposals of the popular preacher, Mr. Moody, who announces he will abstain from further evangelical work in the pulpit and devote himself to the work of furnishing prisoners in all the American jails and penitentiaries with suitable reading matter. He has before him a splendid field for a noble work.

John Wanamaker predicts that McKinley will get 400,000 majority in the State of Pennsylvania. The Keystone has always been a sound Republican State, but we fear that Mr. Wanamaker's estimate is just a trifle extravagant. She gave Harrison 54,614 in 1888 and 30,383 in 1892. Her total vote will probably exceed 1,000,000, and we would not be surprised to see McKinley's majority fixed at somewhere about 150,000.

Mr. Bryan has returned to his home in Lincoln from "swinging around the circle." If he had staid at home and kept quiet, instead of making the eastern trip, he would have been thousands of votes ahead. It is to be hoped that he will be put on the road again soon, and that his seditious yawp will be kept going until election day. He is the most effective Republican campaign-speaker in the field.

Most people regard Jesse R. Grant's secession from the Republican party as a stroke of business policy. He is reported to have heavy business interests in Arizona, which is a free-silver Territory; and, in the event of Bryan's election (which is possible, though not probable), he evidently thinks it would not do for all the Grant family to be on one side.

A Pasadena paper tells that one of its employees solicited an advertisement from a business man of that city and got an answer, "You elect McKinley and I'll give you one." This is about the condition of the average business man's mind, East, West and everywhere else. Like the fellow that was going to be hanged, "there won't be no fun till he gets there."

In the destruction of rotten and unhealthy buildings in Chinatown, the city of San Francisco deserves the approbation of "the entire State. Nor should the good work halt there. There are other localities in the California metropolis which stand equally in need of the sledge-hammer and the ax, in the interests of health and decency.

From this time out let the statute prohibiting the carrying of concealed weapons be so amended as to except locomotive engineers. The bravery of Engineer Ingles, of the Southern Pacific overland line, in trying, convicting and executing a train-robber, is something that should not be hampered by any law on our statute books.

A most righteous decision was lately rendered in New York. Justice Beach of the Supreme Court of that State ruled that a baby could not be held in pawn for its board bill. It is clearly a case where the sins of the parents should not be visited on the unfortunate babe.

It will be noted that the unreasonable and unreasonable labor leaders did not go so far on Monday as to endorse the members of the City Council (and the Mayor). They knew that this would have been a little too much, even for their misguided and frequently deluded followers.

AT THE PLAYHOUSES.

COMING ATTRACTION. Manager Harry C. Wyatt of the Los Angeles Theater announces that he has secured the grand Italian and English Opera Company under the direction of Gustav Hinrichs, for a week's engagement. It will begin on Monday evening, September 14, with a selected and brilliant repertoire, and change of bill nightly, when the following works of eminent composers will be represented, Monday evening Donizetti's opera, "Lucia di Lammermoor"; Tuesday evening the lyric drama of Verdi, "Rigoletto"; Wednesday matinee, Balfe's ballad opera, "The Bohemian Girl"; Wednesday evening, Verdi's beautiful opera, "Ernani"; Thursday evening, Bizet's dramatic story, "Carmen"; Friday evening the world-famous and popular "Il Trovatore"; Saturday matinee, first representation in this city of Gounod's tragic opera, founded upon Shakespeare's love story, "Roméo and Juliet"; Saturday evening, Verdi's musical setting of Dumas's "La Dame aux Camélias"; "La Traviata." "The Gay Parisians" will be presented at the matinee this afternoon, a final performance of the play, being given this evening.

There will be a special matinee today of that charming comedy, "Daughter for Daughter," which will be its last performance. Tonight, "Cad, the Tom-boy." If numbers of performances indicate success, the play will be called the most successful of modern plays. For fifteen years it has run unintermitted, usually with the sign, "S. R. O.," which to the uninitiated means standing room only, and is now running in London to the capacity of the theater.

CAMPAIGN SHOTS.

(Iowa State Register.) Candidate Bryan's way to wealth is to repudiate half of your indebtedness.

"In this campaign," says the New York Sun, "it is an honor to be classed as a McKinley Democrat."

"The people can get along without gold," exclaims Mr. Bryan. They will have to if he is elected, and lots of other things besides.

(Canton Repository.) "Sixteen to one" is out of date. Make it five to one, after the Vermont style.

Bryan's voice is said to be giving out. It has given out already more than is good for him.

(Toledo Blade.) "Bryan calls business men 'confidence men.' Yes, they have confidence in McKinley."

Mr. Bryan is fond of diagramming his speeches by Biblical lessons, but strange to say he has never said a word about "thirty pieces of silver" for one.

(San José Mercury.) As long as we buy our goods from abroad, American mills will be idle and American labor must suffer.

(San Francisco Bulletin.) If Mr. Bryan has really called "an honest dollar" for his text, the whole purpose of his sermon is to tell what he does not know about it.

LETTERS TO H. SMITH.

Farwell, Mr. Smith! When the ages have rolled
O'er the heads of a long pedigree,
Your name will be spoken and sweetly extolled,
Unforgotten through the decades that flee,
And children with heads o'er their histories bowed
Will murmur, nor deem it a joke,
A word which the darkness of years cannot shroud—
That magical syllable, "Hoke."

And the glory of Caesar by contrast will fade,
And the fame of Napoleon grow dim,
And some of wisdom will call "neath the shade
So dense and expansive of him:
And the flunners a halo will place o'er his head
As they picture his features redned,
And inscribe him in lines that for aye will be read
"An official who really resigned."

The Times

ALL ALONG THE LINE.

The gallant fight that the reputable people of Redondo are making for the eradication of the gambling element from the community deserves the support of decent newspapers and decent people everywhere. The "tin-horn" fraternity should be drummed out of our seaside resorts, if it takes all the law force of the county to accomplish the result.

It speaks well for the citizens of Los Angeles that so large a proportion of them think enough of their dogs to pay the yearly city license on them. Last year the number of dog licenses issued was a little over 1500. This year, up to yesterday, the number was 1723. The total number for the year will, in the opinion of the City Tax Collector, exceed 1800.

The swift men of the silent steed will meet today at Riverside and do gallant battle for supremacy on the oval track. The meet promises to be quite the greatest ever held in this end of the State. One of the prizes is a $250 trophy cup now held by a local Riverside team, and they will not surrender it without a tremendous struggle. The Times will contain an exhaustive account of the great sporting event, tomorrow morning.

While many of our main highways are being gradually bettered under the direction of the Board of Supervisors, the conditions of the present law are such that the lateral roads are almost wholly neglected. Something should be done in the next Legislature looking to the placing of these matters in the hands of the people living along the lines of the roads, as is done in Vermont and other New England States. This is a question that may well engage the attention of our law-makers at this winter's session of our Senate and Assembly.

Many of the country towns heretofore continue to complain of a lack of campaign activity on the part of the Republican party workers, who have, or should have, these matters in charge. El Monte is a Democratic stronghold, but there are many of that party who believe in the great principles represented by Maj. McKinley in this campaign, and if a few good speakers could be sent out there a winning could be made. The National States' education may be going on swimmingly in some parts of the country, but it is certain that many portions of this immediate section are being woefully neglected in that regard.

The District Attorney has submitted his decision regarding the legal incorporation of the town of Long Beach. This paper is in conformity with the recent decision of Judge Clark, and holds that the little burg on the seashore is no longer entitled to the dignified appellation of a municipality. Under the provisions of the statutes and amendments of this State, the property of the disincorporated town will now pass into the custody of the Board of Supervisors of this county. That body will visit Long Beach, on September 12 to take formal possession. The Supervisors will be accompanied by the District Attorney.

The Tournament of Roses Association of Pasadena has elected its officers for the ensuing year, preparatory to the annual carnival of flowers which has done so much to advertise our prosperous and beautiful neighbor to the people of the East and of the lands afar. The five next year will, it is anticipated, be on a handsomer and grander scale than ever before, and if the bindingness of the financial situation is relieved, a greater attendance may be anticipated than ever before. The annual California show of flowers is a great event to the people of the entire State, and it is gratifying to know that Pasadena will maintain its position, as heretofore, at the front end of the floral procession.

Speaking about shade trees, and The Times has spoken before on the subject of late the topic may have become wearisome, when is the planting campaign going to begin, and who is to be its leader—its Marc Hanna, so to speak? The Times has no more interest in the subject than has the citizen who is proud of his city, and who wishes it to become the burg of beauty that it ought to be. The kind Creator of all things has done marvelous things for Los Angeles. He has made it the finest climate on the face of the earth, the most picturesque panorama of plain and mountain and a soil that needs but to be stirred and watered to burst into beauty, bloom and verdure. But with His other gifts, He has rather overdone in the matter of sunshine, and it is to temper the fierce rays that beat upon highway and promenade that we urge a movement for the planting of trees that shade, and therefore the comfort of the people, dweller and visitor alike, may result. This campaign should be inaugurated before the tree-planting time of next spring arrives. Who will start the movement?

NEFRONEY GOES FREE.

The Tailor Who Struck a Collector is Acquitted. John Nefrony, the first street tailor who several weeks ago struck a collector, named Van Buskirk over the head with an ironing board, was tried before Justice Morrison in picture Court yesterday on a charge of assault with a deadly weapon.

Van Buskirk went into Nefrony's shop to collect a bill and the two got into a dispute. The collector put his hand in the region of his hip pocket, as though he intended to draw a revolver. The tailor then picked up a heavy ironing board and hit him on the head.

Van Buskirk was taken to the Receiving Hospital, where he was removed to the County Hospital, where he remained for some time.

After hearing the evidence in the case, which showed that Nefrony had acted as he thought, in self-defense, Justice Morrison discharged him.

The most famous English admiral was Nelson, who destroyed the French power at sea.

IN SOCIAL SPHERES.

One of the prettiest of the summer weddings was that of Miss Isabelle Weinheimer to Arthur Paul Chipron, yesterday noon at the Immanuel Presbyterian Church. A large number of friends were present at the ceremony, which was performed by the pastor of the church, Rev. Dr. W. J. Chichester. Miss O'Donoghue presided at the organ, rendering the Lohengrin march at the entrance of the bride party, and softly playing "Call Me Thine Own" during the ceremony. The bride, who is a tall, distinguished-looking girl, was exceedingly handsome in her trailing gown of heavy cream-white satin. The only furniture was a beautiful bertha of pearls, edged with a fall of point lace. The tulle veil was caught in the lovely dark hair with a tiny knot of orange blossoms, and in her hand she carried a large bouquet of white carnations and maidenhair ferns, tied with long white satin ribbons. Elizabeth Kimball, the maid of honor, looked very pretty in a dainty gown of white organdie over white silk, and trimmed with Valenciennes lace and satin ribbons. She carried a large bouquet of pink carnations and ferns, tied with long white satin ribbons. J. Otto Koepfli, a cousin of the bride, escorted her to the altar, and gave her away. Otto Wuerker of Oakland acted as best man. The pulpit platform was artistically decorated, forming an effective background for the bridal party. Quantities of potted palms, ferns and plants were effectively massed, relieved here and there with graceful clusters of white carnations. Ropes of smiles were swung from the choir rail to the organ, where they were caught with white carnations, and the front of the platform was hidden in a feathery mass of asparagus. The decorations were under the direction of Miss Lulu McCarthy. Mr. and Mrs. Chipron left in the afternoon for the north, to be gone several weeks. They will be at home Tuesdays after October 15, at No. 812 South Pearl street. The bride's going-away gown was a handsome tailor-made affair of dark green and red cheviot, finished with black braid. A hat combining the same shades, with brown wings, completed the costume.

RYAN-WILSON. The wedding of Miss Annie L. Ryan, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Andrew W. Ryan, to Elmer Wilson took place yesterday afternoon at 2 o'clock in the parlors of the First Baptist Church. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Mr. Garnett, in the presence of about fifty relatives and intimate friends. The parlors were decorated in a very effective fashion, under the direction of Miss Kate Spence and several other friends of the bride. The bride's party gathered upon a slightly raised platform, placed in front of a large window. Quantities of potted palms and plants were massed against the window and at either side, while overhead was suspended a large bell of white carnations and jessamine, fastened with three large knots of white satin ribbons and connected with the window by ropes of smilax. Just below the window was a bank of white dahlias and carnations. The wedding march was rendered by Mr. Dodson. The bride was a pretty picture in white mousseline de sole over white silk, with garniture of lace and white satin ribbons. She carried a large cluster of white carnations and maidenhair ferns. The maid of honor, Miss Ida Ryan, the bride's sister, was in pale-blue organdie, with satin ribbons of the same shade, and carried yellow roses and ferns. Albert Prosser acted as best man, and the bride was given away by her father. The relatives gathered after the ceremony, at the home of the bride's parents, No. 423 South Olive street. Mr. and Mrs. Wilson left for Santa Barbara, and will, they will be at home after October 1, at No. 808 West Seventeenth street. The bride's going-away gown was of dark-green and gold-mixed cloth, and was trimmed with gold-colored silk and brown chiffon. The hat, in similar shades, was trimmed with pink roses. A large number of handsome gifts were received.

Mr. and Mrs. Ryan entertained the members of the two families at dinner last evening at their home on South Olive street.

On Monday the bride gave a pleasant dinner to her friends. Among those present were Mr. and Mrs. George Cunningham, the Misses Kate Coleman, Marie Hickey, Ida Ryan, Nancy Waite of Santa Ana and W. A. Ryan.

that were distinctly Jewish. The service lasted two hours, and was entirely musical and responsive, the sermon occupying but a few minutes. Herman W. Hellman and Michael Levy, president and vice-president of the congregation, occupied seats upon the platform at either side of the rabbi. Rabbi M. G. Solomon officiated. After prayer, and the stately responsive service in Hebrew, the rabbi read a portion of the scriptures, also in Hebrew, the congregation standing, while the choir chanted the scroll. The remainder of the ritual was in English, the prayers being most beautiful and appropriate, and the music of the highest order.

The rabbi and the two elders then, went slowly to the curtained recess which contains the scrolls. As the solemn chant shook the building, the heavy white silk draperies were swept aside, revealing the mass of gorgeous embroidery, which decorated the scroll-casing. Another responsive service in Hebrew followed, and then President Hellman took the largest scroll and handed it to the rabbi, who bore it to the altar. Amid joyous music, the velvet wrappings were removed, and the scroll spread, the president and vice-president standing at either hand while the sacred scriptures were read in the ancient tongue in which they were originally given to the children of Israel.

After it was replaced, the splendid chants and anthems were continued for another half-hour.

Rabbi Solomon prefaced his sermon with the assertion that he did not intend to make an intellectual show of himself by preaching a philosophical discourse, but proposed to talk, plainly upon the objects and aims of that great mystery called life. Standing upon the threshold of a new year, this should be the central thought of all, how to obey the will of God in the manifold duties imposed upon man. As citizens, every member of society should do all in his power to promote the interest of the commonwealth, and all morality, public and private, should be based upon the principle of mutual aid and benefit should prevail between the rich and the poor, and the independence of all humanity should be fully recognized. "Love thy neighbor as thyself" is a rule for all men, whether Jew or Christian.

The rabbi strongly urged the claims of Judaism upon his hearers, lamenting the indifference of many to the ancient faith of their fathers and commanding the cultivation of religious sentiment as an absolute necessity for the preservation of the Jewish race in its purity. The religious instruction of children was especially urged, as the salvation of the Jewish faith depends entirely upon young Israel. If the present religious apathy continues, the rabbi predicted that the next fifty years would see the end of real Judaism.

This thought was the text of the entire sermon, which was short and to the point, and the speaker closed with a fervent exhortation to all not to neglect this means of preserving the faith of their forefathers.

More music followed the sermon, and then Rabbi Solomon, after cordially wishing the congregation a happy New Year, pronounced the benediction.

The Elephant and the Horse. (New York Sun.) Billy Snyder, the elephant-keeper in the Central Park menagerie, has been experimenting with the elephant Tom and the horse.

The elephant has learned during the hot weather how to handle a horse with very good effect, until now he is able to bathe himself all over and thus secure some relief from the heat. Tom sometimes fills his trunk from the end of the hose, and sprinkles himself in that way. He is able, however, to take the hose and put water on any part of his body. He sometimes varies this programme by turning the hose on Billy, his keeper, much to the amusement of the children.

ROSE-HARBONIA. The new Jewish synagogue was again crowded yesterday for the celebration of the New Year, 5657, in the Jewish calendar. The service was beautiful and picturesque, the ritual combining many ceremonies that were almost Episcopalian with the customs

POLITICAL POINTS.

THE PUSH AND THE BOSS
WORK THEIR SCHEMES.

Candidates for Republican Nominations in the County-List of Delegates from Outside Precincts.

The politicians for revenue only, collectively designated and known variously as the "push," the "shove," and the "gang," are very much in evidence on the streets and in bar-rooms, and for men who claim to have the convention "grabbed," they are doing some very extraordinary hustling and button-holing. They are seen whispering to candidates and trying to impress them with the power of the "push," and the necessity of "feeling" certain self-proclaimed bosses, who pretend to hold the nominations in fee simple. That is the way the self-constituted ward boss builds up his reputation. He employs a few valuable helpers to stand upon street corners and in front of bars and talk confidently of his influence, and, with the assistance of thoughtless men, who believe their talk and repeat it, they build up a fictitious reputation for the boss. When an office-seeker hears frequently that a certain man has the power to carry caucuses, name candidates and place deputies in departments, he is very likely to go to that man and endeavor to secure his support, and by doing so he only builds up the power of the boss, which is based originally upon nothing more substantial than wind and carburetor gossamer.

If the boss is believed to be the backbone of a corporation, he can command the services of the "push," regardless of pretended party affiliations, by the simple process of distributing cash judiciously, and by promises galore.

In order to insure the opening of the sack, the members of the push get themselves elected as "unpledged" delegates to conventions. An "unpledged" delegate is usually a political freebooter, with a sandbag up his sleeve, "laying for" candidates suspected of having money to spend. If the boss is prepared to "do the right thing," he can control the freebooters, and dictate nominations.

These "unpledged" political pirates have been cruising diligently over since Saturday night, but it is not generally believed that they are numerous enough to out much leech in the convention. If the reputable delegates stand together and refuse to be impressed by the impudent claims of the would-be boss put forth by the heeled and the organ of the Popocratic crowd, the convention can give ward-bossism its quietus in the Republican politics of Los Angeles. As a result of the city primaries it may be expected that the convention will be united upon the nomination of Robert N. Bullis of the thirty-seventh district for the State Senate, and will also favor the return of Hon. George C. Perkins to the Senate of the United States. As to the possible selection of superior judge candidates, the outcome is conjectural. The candidates are numerous, and all claim peculiar and special "pulls" for the nomination. In case five of the present judges are re-nominated there will still be room for one new man.

The most interest in the legislative ticket is centered in Bullis's race, and the contest in the Seventy-fourth Assembly District. The Seventy-fourth district has now five candidates in the field, W. P. James and John W. Morton of the Fourth Ward; C. W. Pendleton and L. H. Valentine of the Fifth Ward, and Mr. Martin of the Seventh. Naturally the length of contest will be between its two candidates; the Seventh is too much wrapped up in the Superior contest to pay much attention to the Assembly matter. The outcome is conjectural. The candidates are numerous, and all claim peculiar and special "pulls" for the nomination. In case five of the present judges are re-nominated there will still be room for one new man.

The most spirited contests of all promise to arise in the Superior court, as the candidates are cropping up luxuriously, and all are working tooth and nail among their friends to develop a following.

One of the candidates for Superior Court Judge is Hon. Lewis A. Groff, a gentleman of high character and marked ability.

Judge Groff was born at Worcester, O., December 31, 1841, and is therefore in his fifty-fifth year. The early part of his life was spent in Ohio, and he moved to Nebraska in the year 1870, where he practiced his profession until 1887, when he was appointed, without solicitation on his part, judge of the District Court of Omaha, Neb., by Gov. John M. Thayer. He was elected to that office in the fall of 1887 by a very large majority, and in 1889 resigned his position as judge for the purpose of accepting the appointment of Commissioner of General Land Office of the United States, which was tendered him by President Harrison. He was the third officer confirmed by the Senate in December, 1889, by a unanimous vote as predicted by Senator Manderson at the time of his appointment. He came to Los Angeles in the spring of 1891. Since that time he has been engaged in the practice of the law; has fully recovered his health and is now in the prime of life. He is at the head of the Law Committee of the Chamber of Commerce of the city of Los Angeles, and consequently a director of that body.

Among other candidates for Superior Court judgeships are Judge B. N. Smith, ex-Judge W. A. Cheney, W. T. Williams and M. T. Allen.

Col. George H. Peck of El Monte is a candidate for the Assembly nomination in the Seventy-first district. Col. Peck is well known to the people of his district, having been a resident in California for forty-seven years and a citizen of Los Angeles county for twenty-seven years.

There is no general agreement as yet among the delegates respecting the organization of the convention, but the name of Capt. Gilbert E. Overton for chairman is in the mouths of many of them.

DISPLAYED NO LIGHTS.

Schooner Santa Barbara Seized by Collector of Customs. United States District Attorney Denis yesterday filed in the District Court a libel of information against the schooner Santa Barbara, owned by the Standard Fish Company of San Diego, and lately seized in the harbor of Long Beach by Frederick Harkness, Deputy Collector of Customs, for violation of section 423 of the Revised Statutes. The vessel is now lying in the harbor at San Pedro, in the custody of the revenue officers, held for a $200 fine, the legal penalty for failing to show the signal lights prescribed by law for use upon vessels lying at anchor in roadsteads or fairways.

The Santa Barbara appeared off Avalon on the evening of July 19 and attempted to land passengers. She was prevented from doing so by the owners of the island, according to their well-established rule.

During the maneuvers of the craft, Special Inspector De Witt Jackson noticed that the master and company displayed no lights, and, thinking she might be engaged in some illicit traffic, he went aboard, accompanied by Special Deputy Collector Frederick Harkness. After ascertaining the name and ownership of the vessel, the officers returned to shore, but watched the suspected schooner all night, during which time she displayed no lights.

Notice to pay the fine was served upon the master and company, and at 11, but as they failed to respond, the schooner was seized and the libel of information duly lodged in court.

Champion Equestrians.

In the public estimation bareback riders constitute the aristocracy of the circus ring, and the best of them command the highest salaries paid to any performers. The supreme talent in this regard, monopolized by the stupendous Adam Forepaugh-Sells Brothers' aggregation is said to be unprecedented, including as it does the Orford, Frank Melville, William Gorman, Polly Lee, the Hobsons, Linda Jeal, William Wallett and Donna Adele—the ten champion male and female riders, in superb single and double principal, double, jockey, hurdle and carrying acts.

Kahal Israel.

The congregation of Kahal Israel, orthodox Hebrews, had an interesting church ceremonial at their place of meeting in McDowell Hall, No. 127 1/2 North Main street yesterday. Rabbi A. Arndt officiated, assisted by Drs. Nadeau and Labonde. Today at 10 o'clock a. m. Dr. Arndt will deliver a lecture at the same place on "The Progress of Life." The success of the congregation has been so great that it is proposed to erect an orthodox synagogue which is expected to be completed before the next Jewish new year.

PASADENA.

COLLISION OF A WAGON AND AN ELECTRIC CAR.

A man seriously injured and a horse killed—Mountain fires driving Mages from Tejunca Canyon—A Maccabee Social—Breivites.

PASADENA, Sept. 8.—(Regular Correspondence.) A serious accident occurred this noon near Sycamore Grove. A man by the name of Charles Varian was driving a double team hitched to a farm wagon along the road, which at that point runs parallel with the electric tracks. The horses took fright, backed off the road and directly across the track. Before the motorcar could stop the car it collided with the wagon, smashing it to pieces, killing one of the horses and seriously injuring Mr. Varian about the back and shoulders. The injured man was carried to the residence of his brother, which was near by, and the company's physician, Dr. Ainsworth, was summoned. The examination showed no broken bones, but cuts and bruises, and a severe shock which may result seriously. The windows of the car were broken by the collision, but so far as can be learned none of the passengers were injured. It is said that Mr. Varian did not see the car in time to avoid the dangerous bit of road which it was passing.

The ladies of the local live of Maccabees are making arrangements for a novel entertainment to be given Monday evening. It is called a political social, and the guests are requested to come in costume and to bring their political predilections. The decorations are to be in national colors, and the refreshments are to typify political sentiments. The music played for the dancing is to consist of various partisan airs, such as "McKinley's Waltz," "Bryan's Quickstep," "Populist Medley" and the like. It is thought the social will be a great success, and much interest is being taken in the affair.

The mountain fires to the northwest are assuming serious proportions. It is stated that the fires in the Tejunca Canyon are being driven from their labors by the heat and smoke, and the timber bids fair to be almost totally destroyed. The fires are being driven west at night carries the smoke and heat down into the valley, and the intense heat in Pasadena today is the result of the fires.

ORANGE COUNTY.

CANDIDATES NAMED AT THE REPUBLICAN COUNTY CONVENTION.

J. W. Ballard Nominated for Superior Judge and H. W. Chynoweth for the Assembly—City Trustees' Meeting Monday Evening—The Board of Supervisors.

SANTA ANA, Sept. 8.—(Regular Correspondence.) The Republicans of Orange county met in Nell's Hall, this city, today to nominate candidates for Superior Judge and the Assembly, and to select eight delegates to the Senatorial convention, which is to be held at Newport Beach the 26th of this month. At 10 o'clock the hall was well filled with delegates, and a few minutes later the convention was called to order by Chairman Cradick of the County Central Committee. Secretary Peters read the official call for the convention, which was followed by the reading of the call for the Senatorial convention, to be held at Newport Beach.

A. Y. Wright of Santa Ana was unanimously chosen temporary chairman of the convention, and upon taking the platform he spoke briefly, thanking the convention for the honor conferred upon him, and called for nominations for a temporary speaker. R. Y. Williams was selected for the place, and the appointment of committees was made as follows:

Business Committee—W. M. Young, W. L. Hale, Joseph Buckingham, Cash Harvey.

Platform and Resolutions—B. C. Barker, S. M. Cradick, C. Norman, M. A. Forster, H. T. Matthews.

Organization and Order of Business—S. A. Moore, Henry Carpenter, Josiah McCoy, P. C. Smyth.

The convention then took a recess until 1:30 p.m., in order to give the committees an opportunity to formulate their reports.

AFTERNOON SESSION. The tardiness of the Committee on Credentials, on account of the large amount of work on hand in the committee-room, delayed the afternoon program, but at 1:50 o'clock Chairman Wright reported the committee on Credentials, when the report of the Committee on Permanent Organization and Order of Business was called for.

The Committee on Credentials reported upon those entitled to seats in the convention as delegates, after which the Committee on Resolutions reported, endorsing the platform of William McKinley and Garret A. Hobart, affirming the Republican principles as set forth in the St. Louis platform, and endorsing the nomination of McKinley and Hobart.

The committee also recommended that the delegates to the Senatorial convention be instructed to vote for resolutions endorsing Senator Perkins for reelection, and instructing the nominee of the convention to vote in the Legislature for him.

Mr. Cradick then offered an amendment recommending that the so-called Crawford county system of primaries be adopted as the basis of action for the Republican party in this county, but it was voted down.

Four members were appointed, after which the chair called for nominations for candidates for Superior Judge. Mr. Sid Leamon nominated Z. B. West of Santa Ana, and Henry Young placed the name of J. W. Ballard in nomination. The names of L. N. Everett and W. S. Taylor were not presented. Upon the first ballot, Mr. West was declared elected, the vote being 38 to 4.

Before the result could be announced, however, Mr. West moved to make the nomination of Mr. West void, and the motion was carried with a storm of applause. Ballard was then called for and spoke of his honor conferred upon him by the convention.

Nominations for the Assembly were then called for. Chairman Cradick called for nominations, and Mr. W. Chynoweth placed in nomination H. W. Chynoweth, and the secretary was instructed to cast the ballot.

The result of the vote was that H. W. Chynoweth was elected, and the same was done.

Nominations were then called for delegates to the State Senatorial convention, and the delegates were elected by ballot.

Mr. Chynoweth of Anaheim is likely to have no opposition as a candidate for the State Senatorial convention.

The primaries of the various parties came off on Saturday and created considerable excitement. Any betting was prohibited, and the result of the situation is two to one on McKinley. It will be five to one in a week or two.

EL MONTE. EL MONTE, Sept. 8.—(Regular Correspondence.) El Monte is one of the Republican strongholds in the State. The streets present a scene of activity, with loads of freshly-cut and dried alfalfa hay, grain, potatoes, pumpkins, corn, beans and many other products going through the surrounding foothills to town. The growing of alfalfa is an important factor of prosperity. The crop is nearly an average one and the output will bring in a great deal of money to the growers. This production is in its infancy, but will soon equal in value all the others of the place.

This town is composed mostly of Populists and Democrats, and many of the large growers have listened to the flow of speech from their orators so to think as the "Monte" goes, so will the Union go. The Republicans claim everything, but their illusions were somewhat broken when the Republicans held their primary on the 5th inst. Many turned out to vote and showed much enthusiasm for the country from dismemberment and financial ruin. Four Democrats took the pledge, promised fealty, and have cast their lot in with McKinley and the Republicans.

It is expected that there will be a much larger Republican vote cast next November than ever before in this place.

Getting Ready. (Chicago Post.) "I understand you have a new star in your burlesque company," said the dramatic critic. "That's right," replied the manager enthusiastically. "And she'll make a hit, too. I've had her rehearsing all summer."

"Rehearsing! Where?" "At the seashore. That gives her the best opportunity to practice undressing, you know."

General Excitation Over the Issue of the Water Bond Election—An Era of Prosperity Expected. Democratic County Convention.

LETTERS TO THE TIMES.

Lies and Horse-thieves in Glendale.
GLENDAL (Cal.) Sept. 7.—(To the Editor of the Times) In the Herald of August 27, last, is a so-called "Roll of Honor" purporting to be a list of Republicans who are going to vote against McKim and McKinley. In this list are the names of eight citizens of Glendale and Glendale, as follows: L. C. Rice, Prof. French, Mr. Thomas, George Hyman, George Shuler, Cliff Shuler, Mr. Light and Ed Holt. One of the above-named gentlemen is a Populist, and one is a free-liver; the other six will cast good votes for McKim and McKinley.

Thus the campaign liar gets in his cheerful work; he ought, however, to use a little discretion, and try to lead a larger percentage of truth into his efforts, on the well-known Tennysonian principle that "A lie that is half the truth is even the worst of lies," but a lie that is only a quarter truth is surely worth the telling.

J. C. SHERER.

A Suppressed Letter.

REDONDO, Sept. 7, 1896.—(To the Editor of the Times) The following letter was sent the Herald last Saturday for publication, but that paper failed to publish it. Will you kindly give it publicity and oblige the better class of citizens of Redondo?

To the Editor of the Herald: During the last few days your Redondo correspondent has knowingly misrepresented the good people of this place. First, he says the A.P.A.'s imported men here thirty days before election in order to carry the election, which is false. There were about forty hobo brought here before election and boarded by men who are now our officials and their associates. The present city officials would not have been elected if they had not imported men here. Since the election the town has been full of confidence men and gamblers. We expected our city officials to disperse them, but they failed to do so, and they became so bold as to rob men in daylight, and when an officer was wanted he was out of the way and not to be found in time to arrest the robbers.

These things went on until three or four citizens, Messrs. Rushton, Mott and Edwards, being officers, said it should stop. They made a raid on a gambling den and arrested the leader, King Warren, who was taken before Judge Witherie. For this act these men were denounced as ruffians by your correspondent and the gambler spoken of as highly respected citizens. The people of the town are very indignant about these false statements, and the notoriety given them through the Herald.

Yesterday the Redondo Railway office circulated a petition to present to the District Attorney, asking for some relief from this state of things. We are determined that it shall stop, and we ask all good citizens to lend a helping hand to rid our town of this worthless class. We hope nothing more will appear in the Herald casting reflections on the best citizens of our town, and of the subscribers of the Herald who have determined if any more false statements appear in the paper they will stop their subscription at once.

We feel indebted to the Redondo Railway officials, members of the American Protective Association, also the officers Messrs. Rushton, Mott and Edwards, for their efforts to maintain the purity of law and order in our city.

A LOVING HUSBAND

Pursues His Spouse with a Butcher Knife.

On Monday night at Santa Monica, W. J. Kearse frightened his wife so badly that she left her home and went to the residence of her father, J. M. Morris, where Kearse followed her, exhibiting a huge butcher knife and making threats.

He cut a screen door in the Morris home with his weapon, whereupon Mr. Morris fired three shots through the door, more to frighten Kearse away than for any other purpose. As soon as Kearse had left the premises, Officer Webb was sent for and remained on guard at the Morris residence the remainder of the night. Yesterday Morris swore out a warrant against Kearse for disturbing the peace, but it was afterward recalled. Further developments in the case are anticipated.

IRRIGATION CONGRESS.

Phoenix Making Preparations for the Session in December.

The fifth National Irrigation Congress will be held in Phoenix, Ariz., December 15, 16 and 17, 1896, and the official call therefore has been issued by the National Executive Committee.

The membership of the body will be made up as follows: All members of the National Executive Committee.

Five delegates at large, to be appointed by the respective Governors, for each of the following States and Territories: Arizona, California, Colorado, Idaho, Kansas, Montana, Nebraska, Nevada, New Mexico, Oklahoma, Oregon, South Dakota, Texas, Utah, Washington and Wyoming.

Three delegates at large for each State and Territory not heretofore enumerated, to be appointed by the Governors of said States and Territories; or, in the case of the District of Columbia, by the President.

One delegate each from regularly organized irrigation, agricultural and horticultural societies, and societies of engineers, irrigation companies, agricultural colleges and commercial bodies, such as boards of trade, chambers of commerce, etc.

Duly accredited representatives of any foreign nation or colony, each member of the United States Senate and House of Representatives, and each Governor of a State, or Territory will be admitted as honorary members.

The city of Phoenix, chosen for the location of this congress, is in every way well adapted. It is a thrifty and progressive city of 12,000 inhabitants, the capital of the Territory of Arizona, and is excellently well prepared for the reception of even the thousands who will come to attend the congress.

Its local corporations, arrangements and reception is already at work and the promise is extended that every visitor will be furnished with the best of accommodations at prices even lower than has usually charged locally. Ample opportunity will be afforded delegates to inspect all points of interest without Railroad rates will not exceed a single fare for the round-trip from any place through Chicago and the Pacific Ocean. Tickets of transportation and ticket limitations to be later announced by the interested railroads. Passengers may be routed into Phoenix over either the Santa Fe or Southern Pacific Railway systems. Opportunity at low cost will be given for side trips to the Grand Canyon of the Colorado, and to other points.

The programme of the congress promises an interesting session, and the list of speakers includes the names of many eminent authorities on matters relating to irrigation.

HUMANITY SOCIETY.

Regular Monthly Meeting—Report of the Officers—A New Director.

At the regular monthly meeting of the board of directors of the Humane Society, yesterday afternoon, there were present Maj. Wedemeyer, Maj. H. T. Lee, Dr. Walter Lindsey, Miss Elizabeth Mills, Chief Glass and C. C. Davis.

The report of Humane Officer Clark was as follows: Relative to children: Twenty-three cases reported and thirty-nine children involved; two sent to the Orphan's Home on Alpine street, two found homes for, one sent to the asylum, one sent to the Ransom Home. The other children remain with their parents for the present.

Relative to animals: Six cases reported at this office, all of which were looked into and attended to. Two horses were shot. Twelve animals have been reported to the office that have been turned out to die, and were turned over to the pound to be cared for or sold. Twenty-five persons have been warned against using horses with sore shoulders and lame. A few cases were reported which had no foundation for complaint.

In the miscellaneous cases, there were a number of cases of wayward girls (reported by different officers), some of whom have been seen and others are now being looked after.

Mr. Lee, of the Committee on Application to the Board of Supervisors for an allowance toward the support of the society's officer, reported that they had made and filed in the name of the society a fresh application, to which was attached the assent of a deputy, provided the department should not be responsible for his pay, and the opinion of the District Attorney that the board had the legal right and power to make such provision. There was also annexed a condensed report of over twenty cases, extending from so far as the city's officer in the county, outside of the city, within the last six months, besides a large number of cases reported, but which the society, on account of the lack of funds, had been unable to attend to.

The committee is promised a hearing by the board before the establishment of the coming year are fixed. Maj. Wedemeyer reported the purchase of a horse, harness and buggy for the use of the Humane Officer. The horse which was collected for this purpose some time ago by a number of charitable women interested in the work had not been used before, because the society had not been in a position to support the outfit. Twenty dollars was added by the society to make up the amount necessary for the purchase. Eight dollars per month was allowed the officer for the keeping of the horse.

Mrs. Thomas Goss was made a member of the board of directors.

In Alessandro Valley. (Regular Correspondence.) Moreno and the Alessandro Valley promise to give almost their entire vote for McKinley, protection and sound money.

The McKinley Club here now numbers between fifty and sixty members, and is daily increasing. By the third of November there will hardly be left a corporal's guard of the once-flourishing Populace free-silver club, unless it is a tin-horn politician or two who hope to ride into some county office on the Populist ticket, when the next election for such occurs.

Here on next Saturday evening, the 12th inst., the Republican campaign will open with a large meeting. The honorable Superior Judge of Riverside county will be the leading speaker. Sound-money clubs from Perris, Lakeview, Colony Heights, Armada and San Jacinto have been invited and are expected to be present. An invitation has been extended to all those who still remain without the fold to come and listen to the gospel of protection and prosperity, as well as to partake of the coffee and sandwiches that will be furnished in abundance.

While a lamp holds out to burn, "The vilest man may return."

VAUX ROUET.

CHAMBER OF COMMERCE.

Directors' Meeting Postponed on Account of Admission Day.

The regular meeting of the board of directors of the Chamber of Commerce will be postponed until tomorrow afternoon, as there is a legal holiday. The exhibit-room will be closed all day.

The biggest peach on record is now on exhibition at the rooms of the State Board of Trade in San Francisco. It comes from the orchard of the Visalia Fruit and Land Company, and is of the orange cling variety. The weight is twenty-three ounces, one ounce ahead of the famous big peach at Bakersfield, which weighed twenty-two ounces. Superintendent Wiggin sees no reason why this part of the country should not beat that, and is ambitious to see a still larger peach decorate one of the tables of the Chamber of Commerce.

Late donations to the exhibit-room are: Bartlett pears, from S. H. Loveland of this city; a box of lemons, from the A. G. C. Citrus Association; a dish of Ponderosa tomatoes, from W. A. Kelsey of Whittier; muskmelons, from Charles Forman of this city; Kelsey Japan plums and late Crawford peaches, from Mark Brimble of Colton; and seedling grapes, from D. M. Pyle of Bakersfield; a basket of cut flowers, from the State School at Whittier; Burbank potatoes, from D. R. Fullerton of Lankershim; paper-shell walnuts in the cluster, from H. Krueger of Fullerton; royal red strawberries, from J. A. Wood of South Pasadena; Rose of Peru and Champagne grapes, from S. G. Spear of Tropic.
